I've set the width of my grid to 1000px, and I'm trying to get it to stretch to the width of its parent. grid-area: grid-area-end; Yet the grid stays the same width: Is there any way I can make the grid stretch to the width of its parent without setting the width of each grid item? A: The problem is that you have left out grid-template-rows. In the tutorial, everything gets a row and a column, but in your case the grid cell is a block-level element, so you need to make a row and a column, but not a grid item within the row and column. This is demonstrated in the following jsfiddle: This looks like a bug in Chrome and Safari: Create share-able and social online maps with Google Earth Google Earth combines stunning imagery with computer graphics and interactive maps for everything from your everyday travels to your wildest passions.
